The Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) are technical standards for digital accessibility published by the Web Accessibility Initiative (WAI) of the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C). W3C is the main international standards organization for the Internet. We make this determination based on independent evaluations by our technical accessibility experts. Evaluations can consist of various testing methodologies including automated testing, expert testing, and user testing including testing performed by individuals with disabilities.

Our determination of conformance is based on evaluation of the named digital asset as it existed on March 16, 2021. The City of Markham is responsible for ensuring any new or updated content, functionality, or design is in conformance with WCAG 2.1 AA.
